

Best Ice Cream Sandwiches In LA

December 11, 2014 6:00 AM

Ice cream is a summer staple. With the mercury level rising, Los Angeles is more than ready to chow down on something cold. Over the last few years, ice cream sandwiches have re-emerged as fun ways to experiment with seasonal flavors, new ingredients and occasionally shocking tastes. Regardless, the result is something sweet and chilly to keep you cool. Here are a few of the best places to try ice cream sandwiches this summer.

Beachy Cream

1209 Wilshire Boulevard
Santa Monica, CA 90403
(310) 656-4999
www.beachycream.com

Beachy Cream's modern twist on nostalgic summertime moments is alluring and sweet — just like the ice cream sandwich combinations that have been rockin' Los Angeles. A few of this summer's pairing ideas include Key Lime ice cream paired with coconut oatmeal cookie, a swirl of strawberry ice cream and balsamic vinegar on a sugar cookie or spicy and candied ginger with a molasses cookie, to name a few. You can even order a gluten-free chocolate chip cookie with dairy-free vanilla bean ice cream. Of course, you are welcome to mix and match to come up with your own perfect duo, so feel free to experiment with every flavor. If you're very lucky, maybe you'll even happen upon the store's new offering of cronut ice cream sandwiches!

(credit: Yelp user Chris T.)